Tweed and His Millions. We have been favored, says the New York Journal of Commerce, with proofslips of a long letter addressed by Mr. C. O'B. Bryant to the Attorney-General, giving an account of the writer's connection with the Tweed negotiations, which con-Tweed's friends here in anticipation of his return, and with the view of inducing him to make a complete surrender—an idea which originated with A. D. Barber. Mr. manœuvred at first in the interest of a Mrs. MacMullen, of Fifth aveswearing was necessary he would give them all they wanted, and would not stand upon little lying if that would get him out." Mr. Bryant also makes (among others) the fruit-stand in front of the Planters National ollowing statements:

The body of the affidavit, as you saw, attested that Tweed had $1,000,000 and upward in a strong box in the Delayan House o buy the passage of the charter. The parties to whom he had sent me for corroboration could not figure up a quarter of a milion paid by him in all that session, but they took his statement for the million besides as reliable. They could recite all the sources he had drawn upon, and they knew he had a vast sum which he carried away.

One of the first disclosures which Mr Tweed made to me was a letter from Charles O'Connor to the Pinkerton Detective Agency, which had been turned over to weed for a bonus and a liberal per diem. It related to the fugitives of the ring, and was shown to me that I might see how well Tweed had been informed and fortified.

GOLD IN THE WHITE MOUNTAINS-A RICH AURIFEROUS DEPOSIT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE. dispatch from Milan, N. H., to the New York Herald, dated July 17, says: The resident and surrounding population

The extravagant reports which have gone forth have brought bither many experienced miners and prospecters, and so extensive has been the rush that the Grand Trunk railway has established a regular tation at the point of the auriferous discovery, which is about a hundred miles from Portland, Me., and only a dozen miles from the famous summer resort of Gorham, N. H.

The discovery was accidentally made a few days since by Mr. Fogg on a farm which he had owned for upward of twenty years. He sold out the whole tract at a fabulous sum to H. K. Flagler; of Boston. That "there is millions in it is believed by everybody here, and the assays which this country is rich in gold and other valuables.

The year which has been discovered is over eighteen deet in width, with well-de fined walls, running northeast and south and extending for over a mile. The contains copper and lead, carrying gold and silver very rich, the ore being clean and solid from wall to wall. A blast put in a few days ago, and throwing ten ons, assayed as high as $250 and $260 per ton, fifty per cent. of the mineral product being copper, twenty per cent: each of gold and lead, and ten per cent, of silver. Pending the excitement Mr. Flagler is undecided whether be will work the whole mine himself or dispose of portions of it. In any event the new El Dorado promises to bring this heretofore secluded section prominently before the country, and the rural residents are getting ready for the an-ticipated reproduction of the scenes of early mining life in California.

A GREAT GRIEF-A GREAT LESSON. Many of our readers knew Mr. David Holmes Conrad, of Martinsburg, W. Va., recently deceased. We became acquainted with him in 1850; and, as we said once before, a more lovely and pleasant family we never knew. The father, the mother, the four daughters, and two sons, were as bright and happy as a property of the property and the property and two sons, were as bright and happy as is permitted most human beings. In a year or two death took away their eldest daughter, recently married. In 1861, when the war began, the two sons, Holmes and Tucker, entered the army, and were killed at the first battle of Manassas, July, 1861. Before the war of the above committee. closed, or just as it closed, two other daughters died. The only child left, a daughter, became melancholy under these repeated ereavements. Hebrew congregation, "Kaal Kadosh Beth Shalome." of this city, was formed in 1791, about which time it commenced to worship near where it does now, in the synagogue on Mayo near Franklin street. There are only six older congregations in the United States. The remains of some of the mem-bers of the above congregation now rest in the ancient burying-ground on Franklin near Twenty-first street. SOUTHERN HISTORICAL SOCIETY .- It is proposed to hold a meeting of the friends of the Southern Historical Society at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs on some day in August to be hereafter announced. A programme of interest is being worked up by the committee in charge.

REAL ESTATE IMPROVEMENT .- The vacant space corner of Fourteenth and Cary streets, so long the site of the warehouse occupied by H. W. & J. J. Fry, will soon be covered by tenements to be occupied respectively by Messrs. Walker & Saunders and Gates & Minor. The buildings will fill lature during his first year he supported the Richard Walton (colored), of Powhatan up an unsightly gap which has long discentral and opposed the Erie. He described county. Walton yesterday sold forty figured that busy thoroughfare.

POLICE COURT. YESTERDAY-Justice Joseph J. White presiding .- James E. Denby, John Wyatt, and George E. Pratt, three wanderers hailing from Portsmouth, were sures. He recited, also, the details of the paying for the peaches, and there left it. called up to answer for being suspicious disbursement of a smaller sum by the New When he came back it could not be found. characters. Wyatt and Pratt were dis-York Central railroad by his advice-$250,- Accused declares that he saw Walton re- charged and ordered to leave the city. Denby, who is said t there are some circumstances connected acter, was committed to jail in default of William Jackson, a drunken vagrant, be ing an able-bodied man, was sent to jail for thirty days with labor. Malachi Beveridge (colored), charged with assaulting and cruelly beating Albert Mende. a boy about twelve years old, paid costs and was discharged. Mariha, Anna, and Lizzie Jackson (cel ored), charged with assaulting and trespossing on Andrew Byrd, were discharged. The case of William Keisey, assault and battery, was continued until Monday.

THE MOZART LAST NIGHT .- The Mozar

Association gave their sixty-second musicale to a good audlence, considering the storm, which commenced about the same ime last evening. The orchestra was full, and played with fine spirit and correctness Rossini's overtures Tancredi and Semiramidl, and the Debatters waltzes by Gungl. The trio of Reisiger's was remarkably well rendered by Messrs. Kessnich, Thilow, and Reinhardt. In the duo concertante from Tell, by Messrs. Kessnich and Reinhardt. the first-named gentleman rendered the exceedingly difficult part for violin great ease, correctness, with good taste. Miss Columbia Wyatt sang two charming selections—"Waiting," by Millard, and "Voglio Fumar," by Barib She possesses a voice of great sweetness and purity, and her execution is easy and graceful. During the pauses between the music the rain could be heard pouring down in torrents, and at times the thunder drowned the noise of the orchestra and kettle-drums; and when the performances came to a close there was a considerable flutter of excitement among the ladies, no doubt caused by the anticipated damage to

Here tofore they have made the excursion from Old Point to the Capes after night, but those who go down on the 24th will enjoy the pleasant variety of seeing the Capes by daylight.

Captain P. T. Woodfin, of the Soldiers Home, has kindly consented to allow his hand to accompany the excursionists from the Soldiers' Home to the Capes, and this will be a very pleasant feature of the trip. We doubt not that many will avail them selves of this delightful opportunity to see the Atlantic and enjoy a respite from the usual round of care and the close confinement of the city to one state and lo statute

HEAVY RAIN .- There was a beavy fall of of the Hancox and its commanders was rain jesterday morning; lasting an hour and a half. It came down gently in the beginaing, and gradually increased in volume until the gutters were filled; the culverts theroughly washed out, and the city better cleansed than it has been for months past.

The party arrived in due time at Ora Point, where they were welcomed by mine host. Colonel, Phabus, the generous proprietor of the Hygeia, who soon made the excursionists at home, literally. While so commodations were limited on account of the many part little wind and no thunder sire and determination to do all that was possible to lodge the party made even disappointed ones feel all right in a few moments.
